AGUA DE MAGNOLIA.

A toilet delight. Superior to any cologne, used to bathe the face and person, to render the skin soft and fresh, to allay inflammation, to perfume clothing, for headache, &c. It is manufactured from the rich southern Magnolia, and is obtaining a patronage quite unprecedented. It is a favorite with actresses and opera singers. It is sold by all dealers, at $1,00 in large bottles, and by Demas Barnes & Co., New York, Wholesale Agents.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid fever, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS, which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. stamp unmutilated over the cork with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. ☞ See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. ☞Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters, from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Have you a hurt child or a lame horse? Use the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

For cuts, sprains, burns, swellings and caked breasts, the Mexican Mustang Liniment is a certain cure.

For rheumatism, neuralgia, stiff joints, stings and bites, there is nothing like the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

For spavined horses, the poll evil, ringbone and sweeny, the Mexican Mustang Liniment never fails.

For wind-galls, scratches, big-head and splint, the Mexican Mustang Liniment is worth its weight in gold.

Cuts, bruises, sprains and swellings, are so common and certain to occur in every family, that a bottle of this Liniment is the best investment that can be made.

It is more certain than the doctor—it saves time in sending for the doctor—it is cheaper than the doctor, and should never be dispensed with.

"In lifting the kettle from the fire, it tipped over and scalded my hands terribly. * * * The Mustang Liniment extracted the pain, caused the sore to heal rapidly, and left very little scar.

CHAS. FOSTER, 420 Broad street, Philada.

Mr. S. Litch, of Hyde Park, Vt., writes: "My horse was considered worthless, (spavin,) but since the use of the Mustang Liniment, I have sold him for $150. Your Liniment is doing wonders up here."

All genuine is wrapped in steel plate engravings, signed, G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and also has the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co., over the top.

Look closely, and be not deceived by counterfeits.

Sold by all Druggists at 25, 50 cts, and $1,00.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents the hair turning gray and falling off.
It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.

This is just what Lyon's Kathairon will do. It is pretty—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the car-load, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it.

E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

Who would not be beautiful? Who would not add to their beauty? What gives that marble purity and distingue appearance we observe upon the stage and in the city belle? It is no longer a secret. They use Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its continued use removes tan, freckles, pimples, and roughness, from the face and hands, and leaves the complexion smooth, transparent, blooming and ravishing. Unlike many cosmetics, it contains no material injurious to the skin. Any Druggist will order it for you, if not on hand, at 50 cents per bottle.

W. E. HAGAN, Troy, N. Y. Chemist.

Demas Barnes & Co., Wholesale Agents, N. Y.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

Heimstreet's inimitable Hair Coloring is not a dye. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, and more or less destroy the vitality and beauty of the hair. This is the original Hair Coloring, and has been growing in favor over twenty years. It restores gray hair to its original color by gradual absorption, in a most remarkable manner. It is also a beautiful hair dressing. Sold in two sizes—50 cents and $1—by all dealers.

C. HEIMSTREET, Chemist.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

Lyon's Extract of Pure Jamaica Ginger—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 50 cents per bottle. Ask for "Lyon's" Pure Extract. Take no other.

PLACING A DAUGHTER AT SCHOOL.

"I have brought my daughter to you to be taught everything."
Dear madam, I've called for the purpose
Of placing my daughter at school;
She's only thirteen, I assure you,
And remarkably easy to rule.
I'd have her learn painting and music,
Gymnastics and dancing, pray do,
Philosophy, grammar and logic,
You'll teach her to read, of course, too.

I wish her to learn every study,
Mathematics are down on my plan,
But in figures she scarce has an inkling,
Pray instruct in those if you can.
I'd have her taught Spanish and Latin,
Including the language of France;
Never mind her very bad English,
Teach her THAT when you have a good chance.

On the harp she must be proficient,
And play the guitar very soon,
And sing the last opera music,
Even though she can't turn a right tune.
You must see that her manners are finished,
That she moves with a Hebe-like grace;
For though she is lame and one-sided,
That's nothing to do with the case.

Now, to you I resign this young jewel,
And my words I would have you obey;
In six months you return her, dear madam,
Shining as bright as an unclouded day.
She's no aptness, I grant you, for learning,
And her memory oft seems to halt;
But remember, if she's not accomplished,
It will certainly all be your fault.

Vacant Seats Around the Fireside.

Who can witness the scenes of the present without some sad reflections of the past. Let us reflect for a moment on the past. Take for instance the happy, healthful family circle that grew for years, blest with health and prosperity, even until the greater part had arrived to the years of maturity, without a vacant seat at the comfortable fireside or a link broken in the golden chain that binds the family circle more near and dear to each other. Parents blest with health and happiness. Where are they now? How true, each pleasure hath its poison, too, and every sweet a snare. But were those seats occupied never to be made vacant? Was this golden chain never to be broken? Were those plates around the well filled table never to be removed? Ah! some of them have been removed with sorrow. When the last link was added to this happy circle, in steps the pale messenger and nipped the lovely bud to the sorrow of all the once happily united family. Then was the first link broken; in a little space of time, the eldest, a loved brother, took upon him the divine injunction, "a man shall leave his father and his mother and shall cleave unto his wife." Then was another link broken, a plate removed, and a seat made vacant at the comfortable fireside. Shortly after, another, a loved sister, bade farewell to home and gave her affections with heart and hand to one she loved, at the Matrimonial Altar. Then was another link broken, another plate removed, another seat made vacant at the fireside. And ere another year had elapsed, another loved sister was led to the Hymenial Altar. Then was another link broken, another plate removed, and another seat made vacant at the fireside.

But there is still before us the saddest of all our reflections. Who has not mourned over the results of this cruel rebellion? Let us look at this chain, and see it it has not been touched by the iron heel of civil war. Let us trace the steps of the beautiful and noble youth of nineteen summers, as he takes leave of his friends and starts obedient to his country's call, unknown to all at home, until they catch the first glimpse of the military equipment that clothes a beloved, and we may almost say, a lost son and brother. But follow him still further as he wends his way onward and onward toward the field of battle, and ere long he is attacked with disease, consequent to camp life, and we soon see him laid upon one of the narrow beds in a New York Hospital. But he recovers and is forwarded on to duty. But ere long the hand of disease is laid heavily upon him and we find him lying in one of the far off Virginia Hospitals, where he continues to grow weaker and paler until at last his dying request is complied with and the sad news reaches his far off home. Imagine the emotions of that grief stricken mother as she listens to his pleadings to see her. O! what relief it would be to him only to see her long wished for face in these, his dying moments; but when she hears read from him, "Mother, come quickly," is there food or nourishment that will taste sweet to her? See that almost heart broken mother start; with his letter for her guide and pilot; her way straight onward until she reaches the sad sight of her destination, and see how eager she hurries through the streets until she reaches the Hospital and asks for her son, and asks to be shown into his ward; but they hesitate to tell her the truth. She is shown into the Chaplin's apartment, and there she asks again for her son. Then it becomes his painful duty to communicate to her the sad truth. Corporal ——, is no more! See her almost sink beneath her burden of grief; her son has been laid beneath the clods of the valley before she reaches the abode of the friendless. Here is another link broken in the golden chain, another plate removed, and another seat made vacant forever around the fireside. In a few weeks the pale messenger visits this house of mourning again and lays his icy fingers on the head of this once happy family and he is removed almost sudden. And they are called to mourn the loss of a beloved husband and father. Then was the last link broken, the last seat made vacant around that happy family circle.

Hints to Parents.

It is the desire of most parents that their children should grow up to be useful men and women, and it should be the desire of all. It should not only be their desire, but it is their sacred duty to train their children in such a manner that they will be an ornament to society. The wise man says, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he grows old he will not depart from it."

As we pass along the streets of our cities and towns, we cannot fail to observe that profanity is one of the greatest evils of which the young are guilty. I have heard some little boys, that could scarcely talk plain, using most fearful oaths when they would get angry with their playmates. And sometimes when they are not angry, they appear to take delight in using God's name in vain. Why is it that such wickedness prevails among the young people. Who is to blame? why it is their parents. If parents would train their children as they should, such wickedness would not prevail; yet it is a lamentable fact that parents know less of the evil habits of their children than the community does.

I know that a great many children have been the means of bringing their parents in sorrow to the grave, and simply because they were not trained when young as they should have been. It is also true that the companions a child associates with have a great influence in moulding his or her character for after life. If their companions are vicious and indolent, I might say, almost without exception, they will walk in their companions' footsteps. But if children are brought up in the way they should, they will not associate with evil companions; they will consider it a disgrace to be found in their company. "Just as the twig is bent, the tree is inclined."

Vital Statistics of Mankind.

There are on the globe about 1,287,000,000 of human souls, of which

369,000,000 are of the Circassian race;

552,000,000 are of the Mongol race;

190,000,000 are of the Ethiopian race;

176,000,000 are of the Malay race;

1,000,000 are of the Ande-American race.

There are 3,648 languages spoken, and 1,000 different religions.

The yearly mortality of the globe is 3,333,333 persons. Thus, at the rate of 91,554 per day, 3,730 per hour, 60 per minute; so each pulsation of our heart marks the decease of some human creature.

The average of human life is 36 years.

One-fourth of the population die at or before the age of 7 years—one half at or before 17 years.

Among 10,000 persons, one arrives at the age of 100 years, one in 500 who attains the age of 100 years, one in 500 who attains the age of 90, and one in 100 lives to the age of 60.

Married men live longer than single ones. In 1,000 persons 62 marry, and more marriages occur in June and December than in any other month in the year. One eighth of the whole population is military.

Professions exercise great influence on longevity.

In 1,000 individuals who arrive at the age of 70 years, 42 are priests, orators or public speakers, 40 are agriculturists, 33 are workmen, 32 soldiers or military employees, 20 advocates or engineers, 27 professors and 25 doctors. Those who devote their lives to the prolongation of that of others die the soonest.

There are 335,000,000 Christians.

There are 5,000,000 Israelites.

There are 60,000,000 of the Asiatic religion.

There are 100,000,000 Mahommedans.

There are 100,000,000 Pagans.

In the Christian churches:

180,000,000 profess the Roman Catholic faith.

75,000,000 profess the Greek faith.

80,000,000 profess the Protestant faith

Beautiful Extracts.—Sixteen years ago Rev. John W. Maffet, then in his prime delivered a lecture which closed with the following fine passage: "The Phœnix, a fabled bird of antiquity, when it felt the advancing chills of age, built its own funeral urn, and fired his pyre by means which nature's instincts taught. All its plumage and its form of beauty became ashes; but then would rise the young—beautiful from the urn of death and chamber of decay would the fledgling come, with its eyes turned towards the sun, and essaying its dark velvet wings sprinkled with gold and fringed with silver, on the balmy air, rising a little higher, until at length, in the full confidence of flight, it gives a cry of joy, and soon becomes a glittering speck on the bosom of the ærial ocean. Lovely voyager of earth, bound on its heavenward journey to the sun! So rises the spirit bird from the ruins of the body, the funeral urn which its Maker built; the death fires. So towers away to its home in the pure elements of spirituality, intellect Phœnix, to dip its proud wings into the fountain of eternal bliss. So shall dear, precious humanity survive from its ashes of the burning world. So beautifully shall the unchanged soul soar within the disc of eternity's luminary, with undazzled eye and unscorched wings—the Phœnix of immortality—taken to its rainbow home, and cradled on the beating bosom of eternal love."

☞A little boy, seeing a drunken man prostrate before the door of a groggery, opened the door, and putting in his head, said to the proprietor: "See here, sir, your sign has fallen."

Frightful Developments.—The Bridegroom of a Night.—The Auburn Advertiser has the following account of an affair, which happened a few days ago in that "loveliest village of the plain." It states that a gentleman from the West was recently married in that city, and retired to rest in the bridal chamber of the Blancque Hotel, in company with his blooming bride, whose rosy cheeks, surpassing the rich bloom of Pomana's choices; brilliant eyes vieing in sparkle with the diamond's lustre; teeth excelling the Orient pearl; lips of cherry plumpness and color; trim built limbs, eclipsing the statuesque proportions of sculptured marble; flowing tresses of more than Hyperion luxuriance and glossiness of texture; in short—whose every grace, combined with full chested healthiness and fascinating appearance generally, had won him rapidly at the previous evening's ball, to the subsequent calling in of a clergyman and the investment of a $10 greenback in matrimony.

An alarm of fire aroused the sleeping bridegroom in the small hours of the morning, and without disturbing his fair partner, he bounced out to the hall and found the alarm to be a false one. Returning to his chamber he turned on the gas, which—horrible to relate—he discovered, as he supposed, the mortifying fact that he had mistaken the room. Too much bewildered to collect his disturbed faculties, his eyes mechanically took in a heterogenous display of horrors promiscuously strewn about the apartment, on chairs, on tables and the floor, and suspended to the bed posts, which caused him to suspect that he had entered the den of some practical anatomist; for upon the bed, clearly defined by the light of the blazing gas, lay the shape of an almost fleshless skeleton, with bare skull and only one browless, lashless eye; toothless, pale lipped mouth; wrinkled brow and sunken cheek; sunken limbs and consumptive thorax.

About the premises lay fragments of humanity, to all appearance here an eye, freed from its socket, but glassy and sparkling, there a row of grinning snow white teeth, detached from the jaws, but with the gums still adhering; a mass of human hair, just as it might have been scalped from the skull; two fragments of human limbs, constituting what appeared to be the fleshy part, or calf of the leg; also what seemed to be a female bust, or chest, still moving as in the act of respiration; while in it were the inner portions (apparently artificial) of two human cheeks; a saucer of rouge, hair dyes, seven bottles of cosmetics, pearl powder, a stay lace in six fragments, a box bearing the label, "patent false calves;" another labelled Plumpers for the cheeks;" still another "heavers;" a set of "patent eyebrows and lashes" were grouped about, and added to the light which was breaking over the mystified bridegroom, who upon approaching the bed succeeded in tracing amid the bones and parchment there extended what was left (after subtracting the machinery) of his lately blooming bride. Crowding the whole lot of traps and bones into a satchel, he rushed to a coroner and delivered up the debris, not even waiting to attend the inquest. The next train West bore the horrified widower to his home, where he is now living under vows of eternal celibacy.

Professional Impudence.—The Republican of Meadsville thus speaks of an attorney in the town, who catechised a female witness on the stand. It will apply to some in this locality, though they are rare: "It was not necessary to his case that he should torture the frail and friendless woman who appeared as the prosecutor. It was no evidence of either legal ability, wit, or manliness for him to catechise her in the manner he did. Her misfortune is well known—she is under the ban of society—but she is a woman; perhaps more sinned against than sinning and it does not follow that the lawyer may ignore the proprieties and decencies of life in addressing her in a court of justice. It is not manly to wantonly outrage the feelings of the meanest criminal, and it is shameful to badger a weak, unfortunate woman before a crowd. We know this is a common habit, and the council in this case was simply following the usages of a portion of the profession, but it is a disgraceful habit that should meet with the severest censure. The power of the courts, as well as enlightened public opinion, should be bright to bear against the blackguardism and browbeating so prevalent among a class of attorneys, who seem to think that their professional position carries with it a license to say things to witnesses for which they ought to have their heads broken."

☞Somebody says a baby laughing in its dreams is conversing with angels. Perhaps so—but we have seen them crying in their waking hours as though they were having a spat with evil spirits.

☞A lady wished a seat in a crowded hall. A handsome gentleman gave her a chair. "You are a jewel," she said. "O, no, I am a jeweller, I have just set the jewel."

☞A married monster says he once had a most delightful dream, in which he imagined he had an angel by his side, and on waking up found it was only his wife.

☞"I go through my work," as the needle said to the idle boy. "But not till you are hard pushed," as the idle boy said to the needle.

☞Man and wife, like verb and nominative, should always agree.

☞Reading matter on every page.

The Latest Important News.

Day dawns! Congress and the President are about to harmonize!—The Constitutional Amendment the basis of Reconstruction. Suffrage without regard to race or color to loyal men. Leading rebels disfranchised. The Senate in session all Saturday night. Senator Sherman's substitute for Stevens's bill adopted Sunday morning, yeas 29, nays 10. The Pittsburg Commercial of yesterday says:

"The proceedings in Congress and the news from Washington in general, touching the question of reconstruction, are of the highest importance.—A complete reconciliation of Congress and the President is on the point of consummation. The President gracefully, and with apparent sincerity, yields everything.

The plan to be adopted provides for dividing the rebel States into military districts, which, until civil governments are restored, will be governed by military commanders designated by the President. The Constitutional Amendment is to be the basis for restoring civil governments; all male persons of proper age, without regard to race or color, are to be voters from the start, and whenever a State shall thus reorganize and elect representatives they are to be admitted to seats in Congress.

It goes to the bottom of and comprehends the entire business. It embraces every essential idea for which Congress has contended, and in some respects goes even further than a majority at one time would have insisted on going. In brief, it inflicts a penalty for treason, secures equal suffrage, disfranchises leading rebels, repudiates the rebel, and makes sacred the federal debt. And to all this, it is almost absolutely certain, the President gives his assent; to insure restoration on a plan giving effect to these great ideas and precious principles, he will cordially co-operate with Congress. If it shall be carried through—of which there now seems to be every probability—then indeed, as in former periods in our recent history, when times were darkest, will the nation 'out of this nettle, danger, pluck this flower safety.'

"That the House of Representatives will concur in the action of the Senate, there can scarcely be any doubt."

CONGRESS AND THE SOUTHERN PEOPLE.—The indications are that the Southern people will have to submit to severer measures now than would have been forced upon them a year ago had they shown a proper inclination to accept the best terms of reconstruction then offered them. Time and discussion has not created any greater sympathy for the unfortunate people of the South than existed at the close of the war. The rebel leaders then are rebel leaders now, and it was not alone the President's fault that treason was not made odious at the proper time. Prominent Republican leaders were among the first to ask for pardon for those most prominent in the rebellion—the most guilty of treason. Delay has made rebels hopeful—has made them impudent—has given them strength for further mischief. The most Radical measures may now fail to bring peace and prosperity to an unfortunate people.

THE FORTIETH CONGRESS.—The period for the opening of the session of the fortieth Congress is fast approaching. Heretofore the new Congress met on the beginning of December, following the expiration of the term of service of the old one, but this law was changed some weeks ago, and the new Congress directed to meet on the 5th of March, the day succeeding the out going of the old body. By this arrangement, Congress becomes perpetual, having the power to remain in session constantly, or to adjourn from time to time, as its convenience may suggest or the exigencies of the public service demand.

Whether the coming Congress will take up where the old one leaves off on the reconstruction plans, and hasten on the work we leave for time to determine. The probabilities are that it will be some time before the new members can understand the reins of the many drivers.

THE great curse of the present day is the quiet endorsement by the masses of parties of every action of party leaders. When the people, irrespective of party, determine to act for their own interest, independent of the dictation of corrupt politicians, we may expect a return to honest legislation and better times. Parties are very proper in their place at the right time, but the people, the mass of voters, should not allow leaders to make bad use of them. With very few exceptions, every party organ in the State, endorses every act, right or wrong, of their party leaders, and the voters of the parties are expected to give their amen. This is party tyranny, and so long as it shall exist, Representatives will not be more honest than they are.

☞ The steamer Swatara has arrived with Surratt on board. He will be taken to Washington.

DURING the past week, Congress has been active. The House of Representatives decreed by overwhelming majorities that the following things shall be done:

1. All the Southern States shall be put under martial law.

2. All the negroes in the Southern States, over twenty-one years of age, shall be admitted to the suffrage.

3. All the whites in the Southern States who had anything to do with the rebellion shall be excluded from voting.

Of course before these decrees become laws they must also pass the Senate and be approved by the President, or carried over his head by a two-third vote.

In more than half the Southern States the negroes over twenty-one out-number two to one the whites who have taken no part in the rebellion:—as a necessary consequence, the political power of those States will (if the above decrees pass into law,) rest solely and exclusively in the hands of the negroes.

What then? Will the whites submit—or will they again face the bayonets of the military placed over them to enforce the decrees of Congress.

THE Philadelphia Telegraph is considering the question "how to purify the corruption at Harrisburg." It starts out with the following statement of the case:

"If any of our readers have had occasion to visit Harrisburg during a session of the Legislature, they will remember the mysterious beckonings into corners, the whispered questions as to what he wants 'put through,' and the assurance that it can be done 'if he will only make it all right.' If there is anything calculated to disgust our honest men with government, it is a visit to that centre of small corruption, and an interview with the jobbers and lobbyists who throng the halls of legislation. There is no use of pretending virtuous indignation, nor yet of shutting our eyes against that which, however much to be regretted, exists. What we now need is a remedy, and a remedy which will be effective and permanent is a difficult matter to secure."

The Telegraph thinks a remedy may be found by increasing the number of members of the Legislature, thus making the purchase of a majority too expensive to be extensively practised. This is practical, certainly!

A CURIOUS REVOLT.—It will be observed that Senator Conness, of California, waxed exceedingly wrath the other day with Senator Sumner, of Massachusetts. After some remarks of Mr. Sumner charging the Senate with cowardice, Mr. Conness retorted by saying that he was "tired of the whip of this leader of the Senate—that he was determined no longer to submit to Mr. Sumner's lash," and so on. It is odd that Mr. Conness, who is a plucky man as well as a Radical Republican, should dare to talk in this style. It shows a want of that subordination to authority which is so beautiful in youth. It endangers his being put in the pillory along with Messrs. Cowan, Doolittle and Dixon. Perhaps, he did not consider that view of the case. He will, doubtless, have occasion to consider it before he gets through.

BEWILDERED beyond bearing, and mystified to the verge of madness, by the contradictory reports and rumors that find their way into print concerning our great men's opinions on public affairs, the New York Times practically exclaims: "We really wish that Gen. Grant would issue a daily bulletin of his opinions. As things now are, his authority is claimed in favor of every political scheme that any member of Congress, any editor, or any no body takes it in his head to propose." We cordially indorse the deprecation and sympathise with the wish that it suggests.

THE following are the States which have up to this time ratified or rejected the constitutional amendment:

Ratified by Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin; total, 19.

Rejected by Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Louisana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia; total, 13.

THE Meadville Republican makes the following suggestion: "Mr. Kerns, of Philadelphia, has introduced a bill in the Legislature prohibiting the publication in the newspapers of gift concert and lottery advertisements. While he is about it he ought to add a clause to protect the people against swindling legislators who go to Harrisburg and betray their trust. Gift concerts and lotteries cannot inflict greater injuries upon the country than corrupt representatives."

DULL TIMES.—Every man in or out of business—the manufacturer, the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer and the laborer—all feel the effects of dull times. With less political contention and more earnest devotion by politicians and the people to the true interests of the people, business would revive and we might then hope for the "good times coming."

WHAT WAS EXPECTED.—The committees appointed by the Senate and House to investigate the election of Simon Cameron of the United States Senate have made their report. They could'nt find anybody willing to know anything, and consequently they report "everything is lovely and the goose hangs high."

ARM! ARM! TO THE RESCUE!

Call for a State Temperance Convention.

Intemperance is running away with the nation. It is estimated that sixty thousand die annually, one hundred thousand go to prison, one hundred thousand to the alms-house, five hundred murders and four hundred suicides are committed every year, through this fell appetite for drink. What a fearful record of crime and death! What untold misery, disorder and discord, woe and weeping, attendant upon such a record!

Earth has no ambition that is not ongulphed by it, nor hope that is not blasted; no tie that is not broken; no sanctuary that is not invaded; no kinsman, friend, brother, wife or child that is not forgotten; and no fibre of human agony which is not wrung. God has created no mind that can safely challenge combat with the appetite.

How would he be esteemed a benefactor who would deliver a sinking nation from famine, pestilence, or the sword? But here is an evil that surpasses either, in the comprehensiveness of its devastations—destroys more lives, produces more misery, consumes more substance, and ruins soul as well as body—an evil that is constantly at work, while they are but occasional visitors; and instead of wearing itself out as they do, or of growing weak with age, this giant of Intemperance but grows the stronger and more active, spreading everywhere in its track, wounds and tears, death and perdition.

To suppress such an evil must be the highest philanthropy. If Peter the Hermit was fired with indignation because of the descorations which the infidel had brought upon Jerusalem, and marshaled and led on a mighty host for the rescue of the Holy land, shall not we arm for the rescue, because of the desolations wrought by this greatest foe of humanity? Every bone of the mountain pile of human skeletons around the fountains of King Alcohol calls to the living, Arm! Arm! for the rescue!

And to devise measures for the dethronement of this demon monster, to drive away the destroyer, shut down the flood-gates, and remove from our surviving kindred and fellow-countrymen the sources of temptation, we, the undersigned, hereby call upon all friends of Temperance, throughout the State, to meet in Convention in the Court House, at Harrisburg, on Tuesday, the 26th day of February, 1867, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

John W. Geary, Gov. of Pennsylvania,
Francis Jordon, Secretary of State,
L. W. Hall, Speaker of the Senate.
Also signed by many Senators, Representatives and citizens.

THE GREAT PACIFIC ROUTE.—A stranger, says a California cotemporary, coming from the eastern slope of the Sierra, and finding a locomotive puffing amid the snows lying within the shadow of the Black Butte and Rattlesnake Peak, six thousand feet above the sea, cannot fail to be startled by such an apparition; and his wonder will not diminish as he descends and looks at the precipitous mountains and stupendous gorges over which the way has been smoothed for the track of the iron horse.

GEN. Grant, in a circular just issued, says that hereafter boys under the age of twenty one will not be enlisted, except for the purpose of learning music, and then only under authority from the Superintendent of the Recruiting Service or the Adjutant General of the Army, after the written consent of the parent, guardian or master has been obtained, and when that cannot be had boys will not be received.

COMPARISON NOT ODIOUS.—Several Southern papers have been running a parallel between George Washington and Jeff. Davis. Here is the idea advanced by the Butte Record in regard to it:—

"George Washington—First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

"Jeff. Davis—First in rebellion, first in petticoats, and last in the jail of his countrymen."

☞ The Pottsville Journal, of last week, published an account of a sleighing party of ladies and gentleman from St. Clair having been attacked on the mountain, as they were going from that place to Mahoney city, and robbed. The Journal said: It may seem increditable, but it is positively stated that the robbers stripped the occupants of the sleigh of their clothing, leaving noting but the undercloth-ing of the women and the buffalo robes that were in the sleigh. The robbers compelled them to turn back and return to St. Clair. It now appears that the sleigh party consisted of several gay married men, out with female companions on a spree. The highwaymen were their wives with a number of friends, who, in male disguise, thus sought and obtained revenge.

The Pensacola Observer speaks of a Confederate soldier who overstayed his furlough during the war, took to the woods for fear of being arrested as a deserter, and reappeared last week, having just heard of the surrender of Lee and Johnston, and the close of the war. He was making his way to Fort Barrancas to obtain a parole.

A PAIR of Lilliputians were brought into the world by a lady of Preston, Conn. One of the infants weighed less than one pound and a half, and the other a little over two pounds—A lady's finger ring fits their arms nicely.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Feb. 12—The bill which passed the House to day for the reorganization of Louisiana provides that the President, with the consent of the Senate, shall appoint a loyal Governor, who had no part in the rebellion, who shall hold the office for one year; that he shall also appoint a provisional Council of nine persons, who shall have the qualifications prescribed for Governor, and exercise with that officer all legislative powers; that all officers of the State chosen by the Council and Governor shall be loyal men, able to take the test oath; that June 1, 1867, all male citizens of twenty one years, without distinction of race or color, who have resided in the State one year, and have never aided the rebellion, shall have the right to vote for Governor, State officers and members of the Legislature; that October next an election by such qualified voters shall be held for members of a convention to form a State Constitution; that the Secretary of War shall issue orders to regulate these elections; that the constitution shall not permit any distinction of men on account of race or color, and shall not pay any debts contracted in behalf of the rebellion, and shall recognize the perpetual Union of the States; that the President shall forthwith appoint a military commander for the State, who shall enforce the laws which the civil authorities neglect; that no laws passed by the provisional council shall be valid till Congress has approved them; that all laws of the State consistent with this act shall remain in force.

Feb 13.—We have had a day of unusual excitement and interest in the House, with results of corresponding importance. The bill to put all the Southern States under military law was up for final action. One great objection to the bill was that it contained no plan whatever for the restoration of civil authority or for the restoration of the Southern States to the Union. This objection Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, attempted to supply. He had prepared an amendment, providing that whenever the Constitutional Amendment should become valid and be adopted by any Southern State, and whenever such State should secure universal suffrage to all its people, then it should be admitted to representation; until that should be done the States should be under martial law, as provided by the main section of the bill. Mr. Stevens refused to permit this amendment to be offered, and moved the previous question. The House voted that motion down by a large majority. Mr. Bingham then made an earnest and eloquent speech in support of his amendment. The Radicals opposed it on the ground that it would allow men who had been in rebellion to vote. Mr. Bingham admitted it, and said it admitted all to vote, but not to hold office. After some debate the previous question was moved on the motion to recommit the bill, for the purpose of inserting those amendments and that motion was sustained. The Democrats had most of them, up to this time, voted with the friends of the amendment, but on the next vote they changed, and thus threw the power into the hands of its opponents. The motion to recommit was lost and the bill then passed on the gallop. The Democrats thus succeeded in excluding the great mass of the whites in all the Southern States from voting and in admitting all the blacks. As this was the distinct issue presented for their action, the Louisiana bill will undoubtedly be made the model for the new Governments in all the South, and it will give four or five of the Southern States to the absolute control of the blacks. The Southern people have the Democrats to thank for this result, and they console themselves by thinking that they did not commit themselves to the amendments. The vote on the passage of the bill was, ayes 109, noes 55, lacking one of two-thirds. Thirteen Republicans voted against the bill, as follows: Baker, of Illinois; Banks and Baldwin, of Massachusetts; Davis, of Kentucky; Defrees, of Indiana; Dodge, of New York; Hawkins, of Tennessee; Kelso, of Missouri; Kuykendall, of Illinois; Raymond, of New York; Stillwell, of Indiana; Francis Thomas and John L. Thomas, Jr., of Maryland.

Strange Occurrence--A House Blown to Pieces in Allegheny--A Series of Gas Explosions--Loss of Life.

The Pittsburg Gazette of Thursday last says: A strange and startling accident, attended with fatal results, occurred yesterday afternoon at about one o'clock, in the First ward, Allegheny. Mr. Samuel Bradley, proprietor of Bradley's Woolen Mill, on the river bank in Allegheny, has been building a new frame house on Darragh street, in the First ward, and the building is but just completed, having received the finising strokes on Monday of the present week.

The house was rented to Mr. Wm. Barker, Jr., a son-in-law of Mr. Bradley's, and Mr. B. had removed a portion of his furniture into the building on Saturday, and the servants and a part of the family have been engaged in getting the house "to rights."

Yesterday, at the time mentioned, there was nobody in the house with the exception of Miss Bradley, Mrs. Barker's sister, who was in the sitting room with Mr. Barker's little boy, Samuel, a child of three years and five months, and a servant girl who was up stairs. Miss Bradley had just placed the little boy in a rocking chair in front of the fire, and had turned to leave the room, when a frightful explosion occurred, which knocked her down and rendered her temporarily insensible. When she recovered her senses a moment afterwards she was lying in a corner of the room, among what seemed the fragments of the whole house. Her first thought was for the child, and she discovered him lying half enveloped in the torn carpet in a distant part of the room, where he had been thrown from the chair by the force of the explosion. The child was apparently dead, though no bruises or cuts appeared on his body. As soon as he could be extricated, he was handed out of the window and removed to a room in the Woolen factory where he immediately received every attention. Drs. Rankin and Thorne were almost immediately at the place, and were unremitting in their efforts to relieve the little sufferer. He was found to be uninjured externally and his condition resulted from the violent concussion of the explosion and the inhalation of a large amount of the gas liberated thereby. His condition was very critical for some time, but for a time he seemed to grow better. Towards evening he began to sink, and at half-past eight o'clock he expired. Miss Bradley escaped with only temporary indisposition.

The house was reduced to a perfect wreck by the mysterious explosion. The floor of the sitting room which Miss B. and the child were in, was torn literally to pieces, and cast in a pile of rubbish at one side of the apartment. How the lady and child could have been thrown among such a collection of debris without serious injury, is a mystery only to be accounted for by the fact that the carpet partially covered the splintered boards and joists. The walls of the room were shattered, as was also the ceiling, to a considerable extent, while little of the furniture escaped complete wreck. The parlor across the hall shared the same fate. A magnificent piano in this room was thrown upon its end, but was found not to have sustained material damage. All the other rooms on the first floor were wrecked in the general ruin The front portion of the house was forced far out at the bottom, so that to a person on the street, the front looked as if it were leaned up against the frame. Pieces of the glass, sash and inside wood-work were thrown by the explosion across the street. The building is a complete wreck, there being, apparently, no part of the frame which can be used in the work of "reconstruction."

As to the cause of this singular accident, there is no doubt that the explosion was caused by the gas bursting the pipe underground of the cellar, beneath the sitting room, though as to the cause producing the explosion nothing is certainly known. It is stated that the gas main thereabouts has been leaking for some time, and that the proper parties were notified of the fact when it was first discovered. It would seem that the liberated gas collecting under the frozen surface of the ground, had become irrepressible, and escaped in this violent manner. Singularly enough, after the first explosion a constant succession of reports occurred at intervals of from ten to twenty minutes. As many as twenty of these must have occurred during the afternoon, varying in violence and taking place at different points. No material damage was done by any of them.

Mrs. Barker is lying dangerously ill at the old residence of the family, on Robinson street, and all knowledge of the occurrence is being kept from her.

A large crowd of course collected immediately, and the greatest excitement prevailed. All sorts of stories were started, and for a time it was believed that a number of deaths had resulted from the accident.

No Distinction of Race or Color.

The following bill has passed the Senate of Pennsylvania. It may also pass the House and become a law:

An Act making it an offense for railroad corporations within this Commonwealth to make any distinction with their passengers on account of race or color, and punishing such corporations and their agents and employees for the commission of such offense.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That on and after the passage of this act, any railroad or railway corporation within this Commonwealth that shall exclude, or allow to be excluded by their agents, conductors or employees, from any of their passenger cars, any person or persons on account of color or race, or that shall refuse to carry in any of their cars, thus set apart, any person or persons, on account of color or race, or that shall, for any such reason, compel or attempt to compel any person or persons to occupy any particular part of any of their cars set apart for the accommodation of people as passengers, shall be liable in an action of debt to the person injured or aggrieved, in the sum of five hundred dollars, the same to be recovered in an action of debt as like amounts are now by law recoverable.

SEC. 2. That any agent, conductor or employee of any railroad or railway corporation within this Commonwealth, who shall exclude, allow to be excluded, or assist in the exclusion from any of their cars set apart for the accommodation of passengers, any person or persons on account of color or race, or who shall throw any car or cars from the track, thereby preventing persons from riding, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars nor less than one hundred dollars, or to be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three months nor less than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

On the final passage of the bill, the yeas and nays were required by Mr. Wallace and Mr. Lowry, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bingham, Billingfelt, Browne, [Lawrence], Browne, (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Graham, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Haines, Jackson, James, M'Candless, Randall, Schall, Searight, Wallace, and Walls—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY

BY

DR. WILLIAM BREWSTER, HUNTINGDON, PA.

For the benefit of those proposing to undertake Electrical treatment for diseases we give in the following list a few of the more prominent and most common complaints met with in our practice, in all of which we are most successful. IN NEARLY ALL CASES OF CHRONIC DISEASE, ELECTRICITY IS A SURE REMEDY, AND IN ALL CASES BENEFICIAL, IF PROPERLY APPLIED. Those therefore, afflicted with complaints not here enumerated, need have no hesitation in applying, and whether only RELIEF, or a PERMANENT CURE can be effected, they will receive replies accordingly. All communications free.

1 Epilepsy, Chorea, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Lock-Jaw, etc.
2 Sore Throat, Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Obstinate Constipation, Hemorrhoids, or Piles, Bilious, Flatulent, and Painter's Colic, and all affections of the Liver and Spleen.
3 Catarrh, Cough, Influenza, Asthma, (where not caused by organic disease of the heart,) Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Rheumatism of the Chest, Consumption in the early stages.
4 Gravel, Diabetis, and Kidney Complaints.
5 Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Stiff Neck, Spinal Diseases, Hip Diseases, Cancers, Tumors; (those last named always cured without pain, or cutting, or plaster in any form)

In a word, we propose to cure all curable diseases.

We have no connection whatever with any other Electrical office in this or any other county. All letters address to WM. BREWSTER, M. D.,

Brief Items.

—Friday next is Washington's birth day. "Phantasticks" and "maskeraders," ought to be "about."

—Festivals are the rampage in Lewistown. Of course they have the chance amusements.

—Johnstown has been visited with a freshet, caused by an ice-gorge.— The Juniata is quiet at this point.

—Valentine's day was better celebrated here than in former years, judging from the number of "comics and sentimentals" which floated round.

—An Irishman named Mathew Farren stabbed Capt. J. W. Dougherty at the railroad depot, in Hollidaysburg. Farren is in jail.

—A little child of Mr. Jacob College, of Middle Woodberry, Bedford county, was burned to death a few days ago, by its clothes taking fire.

—It is stated that Mr. Moorehead, the drover who was killed at Mill Creek siding a few weeks ago, had purchased two $3,000 insurance tickets.

—Many of our exchanges are adopting the "no pay, no paper" system. Subscribers cannot complain that editors, for once, are looking to their own interests, like other business men.

—Storekeepers are advised not to put packages of matches where mice will get at them, as by their nibbling the little mischief-makers may ignite them.

—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Downs, of Lewistown, celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage on the 5th inst. It being the tin wedding their friends gave them a supply of tin presents.

—People often say they do not believe the newspapers, yet nearly all they talk about and the most that they know about anything, they learn from the papers. Isn't it so? Then take the newspapers.

—The Philipsburg Cornet Band, taught by Prof. E. W. Thomas gave an entertainment at Philipsburg, which reflected to the credit of the musicians and to the capabilities of the Professor.

—An exchange paper says: "If the poor house has any terrors for you, don't buy what you do not want."— The number of people who find it extremely difficult to buy what they do want is sadly on the increase. It is well for those who have to give to those who have not.

—The New York Legislature has repealed the law against granting free passes on the railroads of that State. Can anybody tell when the Pennsylvania Central Company will repeal the same law, to the gratification of certain "D. H.'s" that we wot of?

—Hollidaysburg has a Cornet band called the Social, which the Whig says will soon take down anything in this section. We could one day say the same thing of a certain base ball club of this place of the same name, but Hollidaysburg knows better since.

—Every whiskey distiller now pays a government revenue of $2 per gallon, on every gallon manufactured, and a government inspector $5 per day for inspecting it after it is barreled. On account of this pressure a few of the distillers in this county have concluded to still their stills.

—It is said if each one of the twenty millions of people in the North would destoy a five cent currency note daily it would amount to a million of dollars in a day towards the removal of the national debt. Instead of doing this we fear that men would rather plaster a five cent note to cure its wounds, and give it free circulation.

—The eccentric genius who about a year ago gave us the benefit of a new theory on reconstruction, matured by himself, and who gloried in the name of "the immortal J. N." has departed this life—the way of all mortals. His "policy" is just as much thought of as that of "any other man."

—We have a "standing invitation," understood, to all our friends and readers in the county to send in items of news. Without saying anything about the satisfaction of the author in reading his productions in his county paper, it is affording others the same satisfaction, which makes them more acceptable.

—A degraded woman, more masculine than feminine in her manners, (we were going to say brutish,) dropped in town on Thursday last. An ill-mannerly set of boys were following in her wake, but wonderful to state, neither she nor the boys were placed in prison for disturbing the peace. We judge she has seen the inside of a city station-house more than once.

—A delegation of the most savage specimens of the Sioux Indians of the Upper Missouri, consisting of several chiefs, passed through here on Saturday last on their way to Washington, for the purpose of settling the difficulties existing between them and the Indian Bureau, growing out of the intention of the Government to remove them into the Indian country.

—The Lewistown Democrat has the following:—Willie, infant son of James Mayes, of Granville township, came to his death on Monday night of last week from a singular but painful cause. On the Friday evening previous the father had placed some kindling wood, cut from old boards, under or about the stove. The little follow sat down upon this, and a sharp rusty nail pierced the fleshy part of his body.— Inflammation ensued, and despite medical skill he died, as above stated, on Monday. His age was about two years.

Bedford Enterprise.

We little thought that the people of any town could have a lesser degree of enterprise than those of our devoted village. But it appears 'tis so, as the following remarks from the Bedford Inquirer will clearly show. We cannot understand why towns as old as Bedford and Huntingdon, (indeed, the two oldest towns in the center of the State,) should be so backward in the way of enterprise and improvement, unless it is that we have those in our midst who possess the fogey ideas of the forgotten past, and long for a return of the days when people traveled altogether in stages, got their news a month old, and dwelt in houses without chimneys. We throw out the following broad hints from the above paper, deeming them as applicable to "ye ancient borough" as to "mother" Bedford:

"Bedford has been agitating the construction of a railroad up the Raystown Branch of the Juniata for twenty years, and at the end of this time we find ourselves incapable of securing the construction of six miles to our own doors. It is very humiliating. Had our men of enterprise made as much effort to secure construction of a railroad, as they have made towards furthering political interests, we would not now be left high and dry as we are. It has only wanted somebody to properly represent our resources to capitalists abroad to get them to invest their money where it would be sure to pay heavy dividends. But there has not been even public spirit enough here to do this. The community has been, to use a vulgarism, as 'dead as a door nail.' It is all very true that we have no rich men, nobody that could spend ten thousand a year, and stand it for a half dozen consecutive years, but it is not always the wealthy communities that make the greatest strides towards public improvements, it is generally the poor communities that strain every nerve to bring about improvements as a means of amassing wealth. This is the true history of the Great West, not so, however, with Bedford. If there were ten railroads to terminate here to-morrow, it is exceedingly doubtful whether sufficient ground could be purchased whereon to locate depots, unless they were to enter by main force and take possession. Instead of fifteen or sixteen hundred inhabitants, Bedford would contain twice the number if a liberal policy had been pursued by those who own lands in and around it. Not a foot of land can be purchased unless two or three prices are paid for it, and very little at even these rates. We sometimes think of asking Messrs. Naugle, Chenowith and others to cut up their farms into lots, and offer them for sale, with a condition that the purchasers must build upon them within a reasonable time, if not the lots to revert to the original owners; the present proprieter might only sell every alternate lot and by his reservation he would realize all the advantage of their enhanced value by the buildings erected on the adjoining lots, and by this means start up a new town, then petition the Legislature for an appropriation to fence the old one in and seal it up, but our courage fails us and we never get it done."

More Room, More People.

It is a noticeable and lamentable fact that houses increase less rapidly than people in Huntingdon. Building never has kept pace with the yearly influx of population, and to-day there is great need for at least twenty-five, if not fifty comfortable tenements.— The population of Huntingdon might be doubled in five years, if proper facilities were afforded for expansion.— Fogyism has been aptly defined "sitting on the shirt tail of Progress," and here, like the Arkansas girl who was a "wall flower" at an evening party, she "sot and sot, till she cenamost tuk root!"

LOOK HERE.

E. H. Uniac the eloquent lecturer on Temperance, of whom we spoke of last week, will lecture as follows in this county:

Warriors Mark, Monday evening, February the 25th.

Manor Hill, Wednesday evening, the 27th.

Franklinville, Thursday evening, the 28th.

Huntingdon, Friday evening, March the 1st.

These lectures are free, and all within reach of the different appointments should not fail to be present.

MARRIED,

On the 14th inst., by Rev. J. S. Kieffer, Mr. BENJAMIN F. CORBIN, to Miss SUSAN J. HEFFNER.

On the 24th., January, '67, by Rev. J. M. Steck, Mr. BENJAMIN GOODMAN, to Miss LOUEMMA HAWN, both of Mill Creek, Huntingdon County.

On the 31st ult, by the Rev. George Myers, LEVI DELL, to HETTY SHOWALTER, both of Huntingdon County.

At the house of John Bell, Feb. 12th, by Rev. O. M Stewart, Mr. OLIVER HOUGH, to Miss JANE BELL, both of Huntingdon county.

In this borough, on Tuesday evening, February 12, 1867, by Rev. G. W. Zahnizer, Mr. J. RANDOLPH SIMPSON to Miss JENNIE M. BROWN, both of Huntingdon.

It gives us great pleasure to announce the above news matrimonial. Our deserving friend "Daul" has done well in taking unto himself one who will share with mutual feelings of pleasure the joys of wedded life, and one who will smooth life's uneven surfaces with becoming grace and amiability. We wish our happy friends so happily joined a long probation of joy and prosperity, and a rich inheritance in the world to come.

DIED,

At Fruitland, (formerly called Atsion,) Burlington Co., New Jersey, on Thursday, the 14th inst., Mrs. ELIZABETH ISABELLA AFRICA, widow of Daniel Africa, Esq., late of this borough, aged 72 years and 6 months.

Singular Attempt of a Mother to Drown Herself and two Children.

On Saturday last, a singular affair occurred at Millville, Cambria county, of which we have the following account in the Johnstown Democrat:— "Mr. James Bath, Mary his wife, and several small children, are living in Millville borough. Mr. Bath is a miner and works in the coal mines of the Cambria Iron Company. On last Saturday morning his wife got up and prepared breakfast of which they partook. It being early Mr. B. sat down by the stove. Mrs. B. goes into an adjoining room, the sleeping apartment, and takes her two younger children out of bed, one aged two years and the other about six months, she wrapped her dress around them and left the house carrying them along. Her husband soon missed her and starts out to find her, he hears a gurgling noise in the well, runs for his miner's lamp, gives the alarm to the neighbors, and descends into the well; here he finds his wife and children in a drowning condition. He gets a foothold in the rough stone wall of the well, raises his wife's head above the water and holds it between his knees, takes a child in each hand and again calls for help. Mr. Parfit, a neighbor, arrives and takes the children out of the well. A rope is fastened around the waist of Mrs. Bath, and she is raised, the three are taken into the house in an insensible condition. They were then divested of their wet clothing, wrapped in dry blankets, rolled and turned until signs of animation returned. Mrs. Bath and the older child are now fully restored, while the younger child is in a critical condition, and in all probability will not survive. The well is twenty-six and one half feet deep, and there is ten feet of water in it. The walls are rough and crooked and the diameter small, and had the children been thrown down, or the mother jumped down they must have in their descent received severe contusions, but none appear on their persons. Mrs. B. says she carried the children down in her apron, which appears from the circumstances to be the case.

"There has been no reason assigned why this woman should thus seek to destroy her own and her children's lives. Mr. Bath is a sober, hard working man, and his neighbors say is kind to his family. It appears, however, that at the store his wife had drawn more than the amount of wages coming to him, and further purchases, for the time being, had been stopped. The trouble of poverty may have been an incentive cause, but more likely she is insane."

[From the Hollidaysburg Register.]

Supreme Court--Judge Taylor.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Feb. 11, 1867.

Messrs. Editors: The term of Chief Justice Woodward will soon expire, and in a short time it will be necessary to nominate and elect a suitable person to supply his place. We, therefore, think it proper to call attention of the people to this subject, and to urge the claims of the Interior of the State to the Candidate.

The Eastern part of the State has now two members of the Court—Justice Reed, of Philadelphia, and Justice Strong, of Berks Co. The West has also two, Justice Agnew, of Beaver, and Justice Thompson, of Erie. The East has also the Governor, from Cumberland County, and the U. S. Senator elect; from Dauphin, and also the Auditor General and the Attorney General. The West has the Surveyor General, and the North, Senator Buckalew. The Interior has no State officer, and has not had a representative on the Supreme Bench since the death of Judge Huston and Judge Burnside, of Centre County. We contend, therefore, that the Interior has strong claims to the candidate, which we think ought not to be disregarded, and which, we believe, will not be, if we insist upon them.

And this section is not deficient of the proper material for the position. We would present the Hon. George Taylor of Huntingdon, President Judge of the 24th Judicial District, as a gentleman, who, if nominated and elected, would do credit to the office. He has presided in this district for about eighteen years with eminent ability. He is a gentleman of irreproachable character, of decided talents and learning, and remarkable for strong, practical, common sense. He is certainly one of the ablest, most impartial, and popular Judges, in the State. He is excelled by few, if any, of his Judicial brethren, as a ready, clear, and vigorous legal or judicial writer. His legal opinion and charges, it will be codeeded by all who are familiar with them, will compare favorably with those of the most distinguished Judges of the State, as fine specimens of judicial writing. He is now in his intellectual prime, being fifty-four years of age; and we feel confident, that if nominated and elected, he would do credit to himself, the Interior, and the State.

MANY CITIZENS.

☞ An individual, giving his name as Harry Richmond, was arrested in Harrisburg on Saturday last with intent to ravish. He had succeeded by foul means in getting into a dining room of a respectable house where he attempted the villainous deed upon a lady, but was prevented by some children entering the room. This is the same scamp who received a good "trouncing" one night last summer from a gentleman in this place for the same trick. His occupation is that of a dancer.

DR. LEON'S CELEBRATED PREPARATIONS.

THE PERFECTION OF MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Dr. Leon's Electric Hair Renewer.

It is a positive cure for Baldness.
It restores Gray Hair to its original color.
It is a Tonic, not a Dye, and acts upon the secretions.
It immediately arrests falling out of the hair.
It alleviates Neuralgia and Headache.
It radically cures Dandruff and Humors.
It keeps the scalp healthy, clean and cool.
It is an elegant and exquisitely fragrant Hair Dressing
It restores, cultivates and beautifies the hair.
It makes harsh hair flexible and lustrous.

Dr. Leon's Electric Hair Renewer has enjoyed a high local reputation for many years. Its wonderful restorative and invigorating properties are well known to the Medical Faculty of Philadelphia.

Being fully satisfied of the merits of Leon's Electric Hair Renewer we have procured exclusive ownership and are determined that every household in our land shall have opportunity to reap its benefits.

DR. LEON'S INFANT REMEDY.

A most delicious and efficacious cure for the various ills to which Infants and Young Children are subject.

Invaluable for Teething Children!

It softens the gums, abates inflammation, invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and is a sure and speedy cure for Colic, Cramps and Windy Pains.

A most excellent preparation for children of a restless and fretful habit, and in all cases of Looseness, Griping, Vomiting, or other inward grief, it gives immediate ease.

Used for more than half a century in the private practice of one of the most eminent physicians of Philadelphia.

In now placing this article within the reach of all our countrymen, we would remark that we know it to be a Remedy of unrivaled excellence and that it has proved in thousands of cases, as we are resolved it shall in millions, a priceless boon.

For sale by Druggists everywhere.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND
J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
Duplex Elliptic
or Double Spring,
SKIRT.

The wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the duplex elliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition be particular to notice that skirts offered as "Duplex" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs" upon the waist band—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other spring.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere.

Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent.

Glorious News!

$100 ADDITIONAL BOUNTY!!

NEW BOUNTY LAW PASSED!

Attention, Discharged Soldiers!

The Act of Congress approved July 28, 1866, gives $100 additional bounty to all soldiers who enlisted for three years and were discharged by reason of expiration of service, or who were discharged for wounds received in battle and who have not received more than $100 bounty for such service. An additional bounty of $100 is also allowed to the nearest relative of soldiers who enlisted for a term of three years and who died or were killed in the service, to be paid in the following order: First, to the widow; second, to the children; third, to the father, and fourth, to the mother.

Soldiers' Widows.

By applying to W. H. Woods, of Huntingdon, Huntingdon county, Pa., you can have your pensions increased two dollars a month for each and every child you have, and when the widow has married or died, the children are entitled to the increase.

To all who have brought home the bodies of their friends who died or were killed in the service of the United States, there is a certain amount of compensation allowed you for the expenses incurrred in bringing home the bodies of your friends, which you can obtain by making application to me.

Invalid Soldiers, Attention!

The act of Congress, approved June 6, 1866, gives additional pensions to the following class of persons:

Soldiers who have lost both eyes or both honds, $25 per month; who have lost both feet $20 per month; who have lost one hand or one foot, or totally disabled in the same, $15 per month.

Persons who have been deprived of their pensions in consequence of being in the civil service of the United States Government, can be restored to the pension roll by applying to me.

Fathers and mothers who were in whole or in part dependent upon their sons for support are entitled to a pension. Also brothers and sisters under sixteen years of age

All discharged soldiers who did not receive transportation to their places of enlistment when discharged, are entitled to receive it; and also all who were held as prisoners of war, and did not receive commutation of rations when released or discharged, are entitled to it.

Officers who were in the service on the 3d of March, 1865, and were discharged after the 9th of April, 1865, by applying to me can receive three months extra pay.

Soldiers of 1812!

All soldiers, or soldiers' widows, of the war of 1812, who have served two months, or been wounded or disabled in such service, if in necessitous circumstances, are entitled to an annuity of $40.

Local Bounty.

All veteran soldiers who gave their credit to districts in the State of Pennsylvania, and who received no local bounty, are entitled to receive three hundred dollars.

All persons having any of the above mentioned claims, or any other kind of claim against the United States or State Governments, will please address me, giving full particulars, enclosing a stamp for return postage, and they will receive a prompt reply.

BROUGHER'S PATENT EXCELSIOR

BROOM HEAD OR WRAPPER.

PATENTED DECEMBER 28, 1866.

Everybody his own Broom Maker.

This head or Wrapper is constructed of Tin or Zinc, with sliding band and bolts, in connection with the centre bolt passing thro' the handle, holding it secure.

The article to which we call your attention is very simple, light and strong, weighing but SEVEN OUNCES.

The farming community have long needed an article of this character; and the high price of Brooms, together with the simplicity, durability, and practical utility of this invention makes it more saleable than any other article ever introduced.

☞ We offer borough, township, and family rights for sale on reasonable terms, in the county of Huntingdon.

For further particulars, call and see the subscribers, or address THOS. G. STRICKLER & SON, feb7,1866 Huntingdon, Pa.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on South-east corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

Thoughts for the Farmer.

How to Set a Bar Post.

"Any fool can do that," said neighbor Tucker, as I got the hole dug out to plant for the fifth time. "Just chuck your post into that ere hole, and pound the dirt in well, and it will stay till it rots. Dirt packs a great deal solider than stone," said Tucker, by way of a clincher.

"Not so fast, neighbor Tucker," said I. "There is gumption needed in setting a bar post as much as in setting a hen. I used to do it in your way until I found out a better. You see if you pack the dirt in solid there is no chance for the water to run off quick, and the soundest wood will rot off just below the surface of the ground in a very short time. I have had them spoiled in three years so that I had to put in another. That bar post has been in service at least thirty-five years, and, if you examine the wood, you will see it is about as sound where it has been under ground as it is above.

"I dig a good sized hole to begin with, and then put in a good sound post of chestnut or white oak, stripped of the bark. The butt should be at least eighteen inches below the lower hole in order to hold well. I pack in around the post stones of any convenient size, and pound them in snug with a crowbar. This leaves room for air to circulate all around the bottom part of the post, and it is kept about as if it were above ground. A post set in this way is good for an ordinary lifetime. I have some posts of forty years' standing, and they are good yet. The frost of course will move the stones, and they will need resetting occasionally, but no sooner than those packed in dirt."

"How much do you suppose you have made by that operation?" asked Tucker, with a sneer.

"No contemptible sum," said I, "as you can easily calculate. Bar posts set in dirt will last say five years; in stone, forty. If they are worth two dollars a pair I save seven pairs in forty years, or fourteen dollars, not counting the interest, for every bar-way.—I have forty on my farm, quite too many I admit, but that makes a saving of five hundred and sixty dollars, which is worth looking at."

It is by attention to small things that the farmer makes his money and his fortune. A penny saved is as good as a penny earned.—Am. Agriculturist.

Origin of Vegetables.

Garlic came from Sicily. Beans blossomed first within sight of embryo mummies, in the land of Sphynx; and the egg-plant first laid its glossy measures under the African sun; and Southern Europe gave the artichoke and beet. To Persia we stand indebted for peaches, walnuts, mulberries, and a score of every day luxuries and necessities; to Arabia we owe the cultivation of spinach, and to Southern Europe we must bow in tearful gratitude for the horse radish. At Siberia the victims of modern intemperance may shake their gory locks forever—for from that cold, unsocial land, came rye, the father of that great fire-water river which floated so many jolly souls on its treacherous tides, and engulphed so much of humanity's treasure. The chestnut, dear to squirrels and young America, first dropped its burrs on Italian sod. Whoever dreams, while enjoying his "Bergamotte," his Flemish Beauty, or his Jargonelle, that the first pear blossom opened within sight of the pyramids? And what fair school-girl of the pickle-eating tribe, dreams of thanking the East Indies for cucumbers? Parsely—that prettiest of all pretty greens, taking so naturally to our American soil, that it seems quite to the manor born—is only a sojourner among us. Its native home is Sardinia, or rather there it first secured an acquaintance with civilized man. Onions, too, are only naturalized foreigners in America. Egypt stretches forth her withered hand and claims the onion as her own. Maize and potatoes can mock us with no foreign pedigree. They are ours—ours to command, to have and to hold, from time's beginning to its ending, though England and Ireland bluster over corn and praties till they are hoarse.—Ex.

The Gapes in Chickens.

Permit me to state that should I find a case of gapes in my yard, the chicken would be at once transferred to the manure heap or buried near the grape vines. Do not torture a chicken afflicted with this malady by inserting a feather, wire, hairs, or piece of gut, in its windpipe; neither administer turpentine, kerosene oil, nor any other harsh or uncertain and very doubtful remedy; but rather kill the sufferer at once, and dispose of it as above. Better than all to avoid the gapes entirely. I have not had a single case in four years; formerly I had it in unwelcome abundance. I tried all the various nostrums, and generally failed. I abolished it by dissolving a piece of fresh lime, the size of a walnut, in a pint of water, and giving my whole brood no other drink two or three days in a week; other days pure clean water. I also mix one tablespoonful of fresh wood ashes to a quart of meal, and feed this only one day in each week. This is equally good for old fowls. The cause of gapes is frequently attributed to the variety of food used, some alleging that Indian meal is especially conducive to the malady. I am convinced that this is an error. Young chickens are subject to it, whatever their feed may be. I have never found any food equal to hominy for newly-hatched chicks. It is much better than ordinary coarse Indian meal, because it is separated from the thin hull, which to young chickens is very difficult of digestion. When they are six days old they will eat wheat, of which they are very fond, and which is excellent for them. But never confine your fowls, young or old, to one kind of food; they thrive much better on a variety.—London Field.

☞ Fences and gates must be looked after, and put in a condition to keep domestic animals out of young orchards. They will either browse or bark the trees, and do more damage in a few hours than will be regained in all of next year's growth.

PROF. J. H. M'ENTYRE'S GREAT REMEDY,

THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Internal and External Medicine,

WILL CURE:

☞ Diarrhoea, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes,
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day.
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.

Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more ache and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all these complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an ache or pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, appliable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use. J. H. McENTYRE,
Proprietor, Reading, Pa.
